The Banff School of Fine Arts

The Banff School of Fine Arts and Centre for Continuing Education, established by the University of Alberta in 1933 and now part of The University of Calgary, has become one of the outstanding institutions of its kind in North America. Each summer over 1000 students from Canada, the U.S.A. and abroad, participate in an extensive program including courses in Painting, Music, Ballet, Theatre Arts, Musical Theatre, Writing, Modern Languages, Handicrafts, Photography and Figure Skating. Operating on a year-round basis, the School is also a major adult education and conference centre. The Banff School of Advanced Management, jointly sponsored by the Universities of Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, is part of an ever-expanding management development program which now embraces hundreds of graduates from Canada and abroad. The Banff School affords a stimulating combination of education and recreation in a setting conducive to both.
